

PROPERLY DRESSED

No Victorian-style kitchen is complete without a traditional dresser
